

EARLY XVIIIth CENTURY MS. POETRY.

188 JAMES I.—A VOLUME OF POEMS OF THE TIME of James I., calf, 8vo, xvii. CENT.

£21

This interesting volume BELONGED TO JAMES I., and has the Royal arms on the sides. Many of the poems are UNPUBLISHED, and those that are printed vary very much from this MS. They consist of ELEGIES, EPIGRAMS, EPITAPHS, SATIRES, SONGS, SONNETS, etc. It begins with a letter to SIR WALTER RALEIGH, and there are poems addressed to SIR PHIL. SIDNEY, LADY RICH, MRS. BULSTRODE, the COUNTESS OF HUNTINGDON, the EARL OF PEMBROKE, LADY BEDFORD, etc. At the end of many of the pieces are the initials "J. D.," which probably point to the scribe who collected and wrote the volume. In the reign of Charles I, it belonged to Hen. CHAMPERNOWNE of Dartington, in Devon.

Phillipps MS.

9568

ms. Eng. poet. f. 9

Capt. Harris died on Oct. 29, 1914 and bequeathed this volume to the Bodleian

Phillipps MS.

9568

Received on deposit from Capt. C.S. Harris of 90 Woodstock Road, Oxford June 15, 1915.

F. Madan
Bodleian Librarian

See Ed: of J. Bowne's Poems

Edited by Prof. H.J.C. Grierson

Clarendon Press, 1912.

(referred to passim as "P")

£3/975.

Ms. Eng. poet. f. 9.

Printed notices of this MS. occur in

Summary Catalogue No. 40091

See also

Readers are asked to report additional sources of information to one of the Sub-Librarians.

The Fraud
 Oh do not dye for I shall hate all women so when thou art gone I shoo I shall not Celebrate when I remember thou wast one But yet thou canst not dye & know to leave thy world behind is death but when thou from thy world wouldest goe the whole world vapore wth thy breath or if when thou the worlds soules quest yet stay'st but thy carcasse then for fairest women; but thy ghost but corrupt our men the worthyest men I wrangling Scholes which search what fire shall burne the worth; had none the world onto thy knowledge to assure that thy hid fraud might be ut & yet she cannot waske by thy nor long bear thy torturing wrongs for more Corrupton world full is to fowell such a fouer longer These burning fits; but I metoore bee whole matter in thre scene is spent Thy beauty & all parte w^{ch} are thre are an unchangeable firmament It was of mine fastning there though it cannot present for I had rather ownor bee of thee any howe then all else dying

Thou sendest mee wth a promise of good for those Lines; w^{ch} being either, seems, nor time nor place y^e or lame and harsh & have no heat at all but wth thy liberall beams on them let fall the minble fire w^{ch} on thy Gram doth dwell w^{ch} is the fire of Adour or of hell, It hath begot and comfort like honours eyes and lettye hills fire all burnes eternally; and those whom, in thy fury and indignation thy bezie shall scourge; like hell it will burne have w^{ch} on mee but my sinfull w^{ch} w^{ch} w^{ch} and told by thine, could not chuse but spend some gift of hers, I w^{ch} to be one of the chaste and misty w^{ch} probably.
 Baffus a w^{ch} no fruit did leave, nor thine, w^{ch} their sweet thyhs did m^{ch}ly mean and w^{ch} now w^{ch} and mouth embrace had differ though they had offe from not like to this thy muse; of strange and holy learning being amazed begott thy songs of new. I say

Sonnet 2

sweetest love I do not yet for now w^{ch} of thine nor in hope the w^{ch} is there a full love for me
 But since that I must dye at last the best to ye my selfe in w^{ch} that by faith, death to dye

Yesterday the sunne went hence and it is home to day her hath no desire we see;
 nor lette so short a way Then feare not w^{ch} be believe that I shall make speedier journey; since I shall more wings and spurs then she